

Fancy Ray still the best

Written by

Fancy Ray McCloney unabashedly declares “I am the best looking man in comedy!”

The comedian and television pitchman dropped in on a “Conversations with Al McFarlane” broadcast recently, and added, poetically: “They tell the world. They tell the sea. They’ll never find a comedian as pretty as me.”

McCloney was back home here in Minnesota celebrating his 20th year in the comedy business.

“It’s my 20th anniversary doing standup comedy, traveling all over the United States. I spent the last five years in Los Angeles, working with the biggest names in talent personalities. I’ve opened for Richard Pryor, Chris Rock, and the great Little Richard,” he said, strolling down memory lane. “And I’m back here in Minnesota to blow up my act in East St. Paul at Scott Hanson’s Comedy Gallery.”

Fancy Ray still the best

Written by

McCloney performed at Scott Hanson's Comedy Gallery last month every Friday and Saturday.