

Alice in Wonderland fashion show

Written by

Phyllis Productions LTD will present The Urban Spectrum Theatre Company's spring production of "Alice in Wonderland" May 22, 2 pm and May 23, 7:15 pm at the Parkway Theatre which is located in South Minneapolis at 4814 Chicago Avenue. The show, written and directed by Judy Cooper Lyle, and based on the story by Lewis Carroll, is billed as a "rap, hip hop, fashion, fantasy" version of the original tale. It features eight dance numbers, choreographed by Penny Masuku, who also plays the lead role.

Two fashion shows are incorporated into the heart of the production. Local fashion designers will be showcased in this unique new stage play, including Nyamel Both of BothDol Fashions, Ashley Lauren of Diva Rags, Maggie Schultz (the "Bodice Goddess"), Vivian Aronson, LeAnn Patterson, who also coordinates all of the designers along with Mary Vang; and Urban Raiment.

This production included performance sby Julian Hines as the Rabbit, Peggy Darrett-Brewer as the Queen, Michi Helene Foreman as the Duchess Madame Roo, and Anthony Stanton as the Mad Hatter. A lively ensemble of dancers, including students from the Performing Arts Program at The City Inc., will perform the selection of new dance numbers, as well as playing a variety of colorful characters.

To reserve tickets, visit www.brownpapertickets.com . Tickets will also be available, general admission, at the door. This is not a children's production.