

Finding Work Can Be Complicated... Finding the RIGHT Work Seems Impossible!

Written by

Tuesday, 19 October 2010 16:38

---

The Recession is Over! Why is it still so hard to find a job? Help Wanted Workshop presents: Ready to work... Where do I start? A dynamic, results-expected workshop for job seekers

Friday, October 22, 2010

9am to noon

At Benchmark Learning, 4510 West 77th Street, Edina, MN

$49

Job seekers today face sixty qualified competitors for every open position, overworked hiring managers desperate to find good help and complex new networking and job search technologies.

If your job search has stalled, or never really got going in the first place, this hands-on, half-day workshop is for you. Learn to find work quickly using better techniques and tools. Based on what hiring managers want you to know...

- Discover your strengths
- Strategize your search
- Revamp your resume
- Streamline your networking work
- Improve your return on every interview

Next Ready to Work Workshop October 22, 2010 9am-noon, Edina, MN

"I want to be working," people say, "but where do I start?"

Long-time Recruiter Julie Desmond and HR Manager Mickey Moore have combined forces to present Help Wanted! Workshop: a dynamic, informative seminar that offers job seekers innovative ways to find – and land - the right positions.

"Job searching has dramatically changed over the past few years - even the past few months - due to changes in the ways companies use technology to hire employees," says Desmond.

Participants say:

"Well worth it!"

"Fabulous!"

"This seminar was the best. In just a few short hours I came away with useful tools and contacts that helped me immediately. I especially liked the networking that occurred with other attendees - a real 'help each other' approach."

"It's not another PowerPoint carnival," says Moore, "where people sit at a table and take notes and can't remember anything later. Our participants have told us they met great people and learned things they'd never heard before. A main differentiator is the unique, hands-on, walk away wiser aspect of Help Wanted! Workshops."

Finding Work Can Be Complicated... Finding the RIGHT Work Seems Impossible!

Written by

Tuesday, 19 October 2010 16:38

---

Adds Moore, "We constantly update our workshop to reflect ongoing changes in the hiring marketplace. Our single objective is to help people quickly find work that works for them."

Desmond's approach to the job search has evolved over fifteen years of helping candidates at every career level find work in a wide range of industries. Moore's experience in Organizational Development and career coaching means every participant leaves with personalized goals and insights. Julie and Mickey know there is work out there; their cutting-edge strategies help job seekers find it faster.

To register for this event, call Help Wanted! Workshop, (763) 656-3808 or send an email with your name and phone number to julie@helpwantedworkshop.com.