

Just what the kids need

Written by
Friday, 16 April 2010 13:49

Project Diva and Above the E.D.G.E. youth programs will present a "Pillow Talk" on Saturday April 24. This event is designed to be an intimate conversation in which youth and mentors can catapult progress towards the concepts of personal development that give them the esteem base needed to be successful in our fast paced society.

Community leaders will help to kick off discussions, followed by having the young adults break off into smaller groups to further the discussions on their own. The topics of discussion include: Leadership, Social & Emotional, Academic, Physical, and Financial Literacy.

Considering the many powerful national headlines regarding troubled youth, it seems that this face-to-face intimate conversation is just what the future ordered.

Mentor speakers are still being accepted. The event will be held at the U.R.O.C. on Plymouth Ave North. Contact Quadree Drakeford through is website www.protecttheedge.com