The Hennepin County Sheriff's Office and Hennepin County Environmental Services have collected 6,700 pounds of unwanted medicines since medicine disposal drop boxes were made available in March 2012. Hennepin County urges residents to properly dispose of their unused and unwanted medicines at six drop boxes located in Sheriff and county facilities.

A recent study found that among high school seniors, taking painkillers is one of the most popular methods of getting high, second only to marijuana. For toddlers, poisonings from accidentally ingesting medicines are on the rise.

"Do not become the drug supplier to your teenager, or anyone else," said Hennepin County Sheriff Rich Stanek, "Secure the medicine that you need in a safe place and properly dispose of expired or unused medications to help reduce the risk of addiction and improper use."

Proper disposal also helps to protect the environment. "Medicines flushed down the drain or disposed of in the trash can contaminate bodies of water, harm wildlife and end up in drinking water supplies," said Hennepin County Commissioner Jan Callison.

Storing medicines in the home poses both safety and health threats. Using a medicine drop box is an easy and convenient way to safely dispose of your unwanted medicines while helping to protect our water quality."
