

Spring style

Written by Christina Garner & Mabel Tetteh of MaEMaRiE fashion consulting
Monday, 07 March 2011 14:59

---

It's almost that time of year to put away those snow boots and tights and pull out those espadrilles and shorts and we have a few tips to help you bring Spring in with style. The trends to look out for this spring season are nautical, neutrals, and patterns. These looks are easy to incorporate into your closet and can be achieved by any person no matter your shape or size.

The nautical look gives you reminisce of a day on the yacht, highlighting the colors of the American flag. This look can be achieved with horizontal stripes, big buttons and navy. Neutrals can be picked up with nude and pastel colored blouses, skirts, and dresses in flowy materials. The look can also be achieved with shoes. In neutrals you are guaranteed to feel flirty and feminine. Patterns can cover a wide range of looks, the bigger the print, the better.

This look can be accomplished with floral, leopard, or polka dots, that can be worn either on top or bottom, but make sure to choose, having a print all over can sometimes be too much.

Other items you may want to add to your wardrobe this season are tribal necklaces, cork wedges, top handle satchels, and floral studs. And just because it's Spring doesn't mean you have to give up some of your winter favorites. Your favorite blazer, cardigan, and trench can be carried over into the next season to help round out your spring look.

