Ebony Magazine has announced it will release a 100-page commemorative book on the life of the late Michael Jackson, featuring 100 pages of never-before-seen photographs, tributes from celebrities and previously unpublished remarks by the late singer.

Jackson, who died June 25 of cardiac arrest, has been honored in tributes at the BET Awards Show, at various memorials around the world and an official memorial service in Los Angeles on Tuesday, attended by 20,000 people.

Celebrities contributing to the book included, entertainment mogul Quincy Jones, Motown founder Berry Gordy, singers Smokey Robinson and Ne-Yo and the Revs. Al Sharpton and Jesse Jackson.

The book, scheduled to be released next week, also includes photos of Jackson, his family, friends and collaborators.
